THIS AND THAT.

The last issue of the Boston Home Journal, a Saturday evening paper of high standing, contains a full page likeness of Rev. Dr. Joseph K. Dixon and quite an extended notice of his past and present work as preacher and lecturer. It says about his work in Scranton, "His next pastorate was at Scranton, Pa., where he occupied the pulpit of the Penn Avenue Baptist church. In 1894 Bucknell university conferred upon him the degree of D. D. Of late he has become known as a lecturer, his fame extending both east and west. He has been called upon to deliver special addresses before national and state organizations, and has been also occupied in bi-monthly correspondence for the Examiner, New York, and the Watchman, Boston, In pulpit, on the platform, and in his writings as well, Rev. Mr. Dixon is seen to have a command of diction at once forceful and elegant. Not only, however, is he a talker of rare power; he possesses unusual executive ability and a command of practical detail that has been shown in all his pastorates. This executive power has been of vast since he has settled in Boston, for this summer the people of the Warren Avenue church have determined to make radical improvements in the furnishing and decoration of their church. and in many of the arrangements the excellent taste as well as the practical good sense of the pastor have been shown. Rev. Mr. Dixon is taking a personal interest in the smallest detail of the renovations, which are to be at once thorough and artistic. It is his intention to have the new Warren Avenue Baptist church as attractive as is possible and still have it compatible with the uses of a house of worship."

The following young ladies and gentlemen composed a party who picnicked at Nay Aug park yesterday: Misses Almee and Maud Haycock, Edith Watkins, Elizabeth, Sophronia and Ella Watkins, Gertrude Polen, Misses Milnes, Ross, Leonard, Meralda and Lucinda Wiley, Misses Shumway and Robling; Messrs Milnes, Kellow, Lewis, Kaufman, Shopland, Long, John and W. F. Brandamore.

The decision of the superior court, expressed in an opinion by President Judge Rice in the case of Florence A. Ames against G. W. Ames, establishes the fact that a wife compelled to leave her husband and the state to earn a livelihood, can bring suit for divorce in the county in this state in which her husband resides. The case was appealed from the common pleas court of Wayne county.

NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

HE SPENT LAST MIGHT AT THE HOTEL JERMYN.

Today Col. Stone Goes to Lake Ariel to Attend a Gathering of Odd Fellows-He Arrived in This City at 8.3 Last Night and After Dining Was Tendered an Informal Reception at the Hotel Jermyn by Some of the Local Republicans. Some of Those Present.

Colonel W. A. Stone, the Republican candidate for governor, spent last night in this city and was tendered an informal reception at the Jermyn by a large number of local Republicans. A few Democrats also dropped in to shake hands with the next governor of Pennsylvania.

He impressed those who met him last night as one who can be safely trusted to wisely administer the affairs of this great commonwealth.

Colonel Stone's visit here gives an evidence of the character of the man. During the state convention at Har-risburg, at which he was honored with nomination by the Republican party for the highest office in the gift of the people of the state, he was asked by me of the Wayne county representatives at the convention to attend a gathering of Odd Fellows at Lake Ariel 3. He promised that if it was possible for him to do so he would be present. That promise he did not forget, although it was made during the excitement attendant upon such a convention as that of the early days of June. Yesterday morning he left Atlantic City, where he occupies a pleasant cottage with his family, and came up here to attend today's gathering at Lake

HIS ARRIVAL HERE. The time of his arrival was not known until the afternoon, when a tele-gram was received by Congressman Connell from Colonel Stone, which contained the information that the sender of the telegram would arrive in this city at $.30 over the Central Railroad of New Jersey. It was too late to get up anything in the way of a formal demonstration. Colonel Stone also desired to avoid anything of the kind. and for that reason came quietly and with as little advance notice as pos-

He was met when he stepped off the train at the station by Congressman William Connell, Colonel E. H. Ripple, Major T. F. Penman, D. W. Powell, Fred. Fleitz and James L. Connell. Arriving at the Jermyn Colonel Stone was ushered at once to room 280 on the second floor which had been reserved for him. After removing the stains of travel and donning clean linen he dined in the private dining room of the hotel, Congressman Conneil keeping him company. After dinner the informal reception was held in the main parlor of the hotel. Among those present besides the gentlemen who met him at the station, were: Ex-Judge W. H. Jessup, Judge R. W. Archbald, Hon. J. A. Scranton, Sheriff C. E. Pryor, E. A. Jones, of Archbald, Mine Inspector Edward Roderick, George M. Watson. T. H. Dale, R. G. Brooks, S. S. Jones, C. E. Olver, Captain James Moir, John Fern, L. S. Richard, Dr. James Stein, P. H. Patterson, Senator J. C. Vaughan, E. E. Robathan, A. H. Chris-Alderman John Howe and ex-Recorder of Deeds Charles Heuster.

IS NOT WORRYING. To a Tribune reporter Colonel Stone said that he is not worrying about the result of the November election. He has received encouraging words from nearly all parts of the state since the convention at Harrisburg and he beieves the Republican state ticket will be elected in November and by pluralities the candidates will have reason to proud of. Before the close of the campaign he hopes to be able to pay a visit to this county and speak to the voters about the issues of the campaign.

Colonel Stone's last visit to this city was two years ago when he delivered one or two speeches hereabouts. He will return from Lake Ariel this afternoon and proceed at once to Phil-

HIGH SCHOOL FLAG POLE.

Is On the Ground and Ready to Be Put in Place.

A flag-pole which will extend 110 feet bove the ground is waiting to be put in position at the High school buildng, corner of Washington avenue and Vine street. The pole was secured after a long period, during which its presence there was advocated by the poard of control. Much difficulty was experienced in finding a pole suitable to grace such a handsome property. At one time Conroller Gibbons advocated a steel pole and the purchase of one was seriously contemplated. As many as two special committees were appointed to investigate the cost of the pole, of wood | chances.

or steel, and twice the matter was referred to regular committees until the project became a standing cause for joking and bantering whenever it was

The high and training school committee finally had the matter in charge. Mr. May, controller of the Ninth ward who generally accomplishes what he undertakes, agreed to find a suitable pole and his offer was accepted. He found two trees at Pleasant Mount from which the pole was made. The two pieces were shaped and spliced and are ready to be raised.

Delay has been experienced in putting the pole in place on account of the surface rock in the corner of the school yard where the pole will be stationed. It will have to be drilled out. Into the drilled hole will be set two pieces of timber bolted to and extending above a third piece. The pole will be bolted to the two extensions. Some eremony will probably attend the first raising of a flag, but that is something which has not been definitely decided

TROUBLE IS ALL OVER.

Satisfactory Arrangement Between Cadden and His Men.

A satisfactory settlement of the trouble between Contractor M. A. Cadden and his men was arranged yesterday by J. M. Knowlton, business agent of the Carpenters' union and work went on as usual yesterday on the building on North Washington avenue. Henceforth Mr. Cadden will pay his employes on the fifth and twentieth of each month.

Mr. Cadden said yesterday that his men had not demanded their pay from him before they struck or it have been given to them. He has always employed union hands #d intends to continue to do so. With reference to his trouble with L. P. Quick which resulted in his arrest, he said: Quick came to my home last night and demanded his pay which was previously attached by a boarding which he had given. worked for me as a carpenter, although not a union man, and when he asked for the money he said he would 'get it or take it out of my hide.' He would not leave my home when ordered and I had to drive him away. I struck him with my fist and not with a billy as reported and left him alone when he got outside my premises."

JULY WAS VERY WARM.

Figures, the Accuracy of Which Are Vouched for by H. E. Paine, Local Weather Observer.

Nobody will take very kindly these days to the reminder that it is hot, very hot. Figures aren't needed to prove the assertion, but if such proof was necessary it could be obtained for the asking from H. E. Paine, the government's local weather observer. Mr. Paine's house at the extreme end of Madison avenue is well shaded and so comfortably situated as to arouse a feeling almost of spite in the breast of heat-suffering humanity on any of these broiling days. It is there that Mr. Paine jots down the pecularities of the weather several times a day for the seeming purpose of dishing out the result with undue cheerfulness at the end of every month. He had great opportunity during July to prepare for getting in his fine work.

July was a hummer, according to Mr. Paine's records which are kept under the most conservative conditions. The highest point reached by the thermometer was 98 degrees on July 3, but the month showed its versatility and disposition to please everybody by creeping down to 43 degrees on July 10.

The mean temperature was 74.93. The mean maximum, that is, the average temperature above 74.93, was 86.51, and the mean minimum was 63.35. The average range was 23.22 degrees per day and the greatest range was 34 de-grees on July 16 when the mercury shifted from 55 to 89 degrees, an average of 72 on that day. July 26 showed the least range, 12 degrees. The month was remarkably free from rain. Only 2.69 inches fell, and the greatest precipitation in any 24 consecutive hours was .95 of an inch last Saturday. There were 16 clear days, 10 partly loudy and 5 cloudy. On only 6 days did more than .01 of an inch of rain fall. The only thunderstorms were on July 4 and 30. Of the 6 rainy days four were after the 19th. As a month which furnished the exremes and a little of everything, July 1898, outclassed the corresponding month last year. The thermometer last month as compared with July, 1897, registered 3 degrees higher on the hottest day and 8 degrees lower on the coolest. The mean temperature was 2.49 degrees higher. There was 2.31 inches less rainfall and 8 more clear days. Rain fell on 13 days in July, 1897, as against 6 days last month.

Last month's prevailing wind direc-tion was southwest while it was southeast a year ago indicating the rule that east winds and rain are partners. It was observed, too, last month that the rainfall was the greatest on days when the range of the thermometer was least.

GARMENT WORKERS ORGANIZE. Freeman Overall Factory Employes

Join the U. G. W. of A. "Trade Unionism" was the subject of an address delivered Monday evening to the Building Trades council by Henry White, of New York city, secretary and treasurer of the United Garment workers of America. Mr. White has been closely identified with organized labor for many years and is well fortified by his experience and technical study to speak in a convincing and interesting way.

Mr. White on Monday afternoon unionized the garment workers of the Freeman Overall factory. He was assisted by P. J. Thomas and P. G. Moran, of this city. Officers were elected and arrangements made to send a delegate to the next Federation meeting. Mr. White said the systematic work of organizing throughout the east was progressing steadily. He left for New York city yesterday morning.

CONNELL BUILDING NOW COMPLETED

MANY APPLICATIONS MADE FOR OFFICES.

A Triumph of Architectural Beauty and Perfection-Up-to-Date Devices-An Elevator That Cannot Descend with a Thud-No Dark Rooms and No Lack of Ventilation-Names of Some Tenants Already Occupying the Offices-A Great Ornament in the City.

The Connell building has been completed and is now ready for occupancy. As can be seen its advantages are bringing numerous tenants. It is in every respect a credit to the city and to its architect, L. C. Holden. In desirability of location, perfection of detail, elegance of appointments and consideration as to beauty and modern utility, it probably surpasses any other office structure in this region. The rich and classic exterior naturally appeals to the observer at once. Although eight stories in height the noble proportions give no effect of undue altitude the great frontage of one hundred feet adding much to its massive and substantial appearance.

The large court within affords un usual opportunities for light and air. and the outlook in this direction has none of the sordid and unlovely accessories usually obtained from the ordinary court.
The entrance is a special feature with its handsome tiling and costly fittings. At night when the beautiful torch chandellers are aglow, the broad portal and hallway attract much admiration. The elevators at the rear are perhaps the most satisfactory in the city in smoothness of transit safety. It will be remembered that some time ago they were subjected to an unusual test which fully demonstrated the impossibility of injury to passengers in the event of a break in machinery or ropes. They are operated by a hydraulic system and are in duplicates in every detail. They are run until 10 o'clock at night and later if tenants desire.

FIREPROOF BUILDING.

The building is fireproof and such care has been given to details of wiring that it is impossible for the clectricity to produce a conflagration. No outside wires enter, as all telephone and messenger lines are brought in by conduits from the street to every office. Fireproof vaults and individual safes also afford ample accommodations for the tenants. There are about one hundred and twenty offices which may be used ensuite, in pairs or singly They are very spacious and pleasantly arranged, in some cases being grouped around large ante-rooms. All are finished in oak and richly paneled. There are no dark rooms in the entire building and much attention has been paid to ventilation. The tenants are provided with steam heat and electric lights from the plant on the premises, where machinery is duplicated for emergencies. Superior janitor service is also given, while automatic postboxes are found on all floors. elaborate electric apparatus was furnished by the Scranton Electric Construction company. in demand because of the advantage of coolness in summer. One of the handsomest suites is that of E. L. Fuller and the Retsof on the eighth floor, whose five rooms are luxuriantly fitted up. The offices in general are so attractive and desir-
